FEATURING ·

PRIEC Undergraduate Research Conference (May 9)
PRIEC Meeting (May 10) featuring a roundtable on the 2020 Collaborative Multiracial Post-election Survey (May 10)

Proposals

We invite presentations across the range of issues associated with race, ethnicity, and immigration, including proposals emphasizing institutions, governance, public policy, and elections. We also encourage proposals from a variety of disciplines. For submissions to the Undergraduate Research Conference, student proposals must either be submitted on behalf of the student by a faculty mentor/coauthor or submitted by the student along with an endorsement by a faculty mentor/coauthor. The Undergraduate Research Conference will be a mixture of research presentations as well as poster presentations. More information about the meeting can be found at <https://www.bradfordstephenjones.com/uc-davis-prie.html> and updates about the meeting on Twitter can be seen at @LPRGatUCD.

ABOUT PRIEC

PRIEC is an ongoing series of meetings that brings together faculty and graduate students and showcases work-in-progress on racial/ethnic politics and the politics of immigration. The consortium's main objectives are to provide a forum and a resource for graduate students seeking mentoring and advice, and for faculty to collaborate and receive feedback on ongoing projects.

ABOUT PRIEC UNDERGRADUATE RESEARCH CONFERENCE

The PRIEC Undergraduate Research Conference will bring in undergraduate students to present work-in-progress on issues pertinent to race, ethnicity, and immigrations. The mission of the meeting is to better integrate undergraduate students into the research process, address the "pipeline" problem by encouraging students from underrepresented groups to present on-going research, and provide mentoring on research and graduate-level training.

Submit Proposal

We are now accepting presentation proposals for the UCD PRIEC meeting and Undergraduate Research Conference. To submit a proposal email a title and abstract to bsjones@ucdavis.edu. The deadline for proposal submission is April 7.
